Jan 1, 2008 quick link: how can Co-Op gameplay on a LAN work without missing files or corrupt game when playing the same game using the Call of Duty MW2 game and XP/Vista/Windows 7 cannot? Q: Validating openid - is there a check if the user is actually logged in? I am implementing openid support in a webapp. On the user page I get the username. I want to validate that the user is logged in. Normally I would use the facebook openid provider and just check user->openid_identifier but I am using openid here. With openid the user is not authenticated by default, you have to specify which provider you would like to use. My idea is to just use a JS function to get the openid_identifier value and see if the user is logged in. So my question is, is there a way to get the username of the logged in user? Or is there some kind of hook or function that gets invoked on log-in? Or is there some other validation I am missing? A: OpenID URLs have a signed query parameter?openid_auth=. If you have your own application or OpenID server, you can set this parameter yourself and know if the user is logged in: You can access it through the standard API: If you are using an external server like Google, you can use the OpenID Connect Discovery to get the URL and verify it. , 930-931, 42 F.3d 499, 501-502 (7th Cir.1994), cert. denied, --- U.S. ----, 115 S.Ct. 1825, 131 L.Ed.2d 746 (1995).
