No user download file FAQs Q. What are the differences between OO.DiskRecovery.v6.0.116 and OO.DiskRecovery.v7.1.187.x64.? A. The main differences are: About 70% of all memory is now cached and fixed (especially in crash situations)! The code is under 2,000 lines shorter! Almost half of the code is now rewritten in C. A lot of new helper features were added such as 'Repair code' and 'Repair file system'. A fix for CDs with broken write processes. It is now possible to create backup media from a fixed drive. The code is completely documented and a Windows / Linux / Apple version is included. Media structure information is now also included on the media label. DiskOverView was rewritten. The media information is now written to a tab, ready for use in DiskOverView. Fix for broken disks. A correction of a bug in WinPE. A correction of a virtual CD/DVD-ROM bug. A correction of a bug in WinPE. A correction of a DVD backup bug. Fixed an error in the documentation regarding the order of backups. Disk Recovery can now be accessed from SysInternals SMART view. Fixed a bug in Visual Disk Recovery in that protected
