The partnership was announced July 29th during the New York/New Jersey Super Bowl. It included Jersey City, Hoboken and the downtown area of Manhattan and created a soccer-specific venue in Manhattan for the franchise. The stadium was meant to be a possible training ground for the team before they moved to The Meadowlands Sports Complex for the rest of the 2014 MLS season. New York City FC would open their home games at the stadium the following season. “The city of New York has a rich history in producing world-class soccer clubs. In taking our team to the greatest city in the world for the new MLS era, we are delighted to partner with an outstanding group of individuals who have demonstrated a deep understanding of soccer in the United States and know how to deliver. We look forward to participating as the city of New

York's MLS team," said Andrew Hauptman, Owner, Chairman and CEO of the New York Cosmos. "Our partnership with Southampton Football Club and their members and fans is significant." "We're very, very pleased with this relationship," said Tony Welsch, Southampton Director of Business Development and Communications. "The New York Cosmos is a team that has had an enormous impact on the game and the world
