appear on the publishing platform is not always like it needs to be. this usually happens when there is a problem with the operating system. it was time to upgrade adobe acrobat from 10.1.4.4 to 10.2.4 and even to get acrobat xi, but after all, an upgrade installation was not easy for the adobe acrobat/acrobat reader because when i tried to load it, it showed an error message -> adobe acrobat/acrobat reader cannot be loaded. i was desperate to solve this problem, and i found that this acrobat problem is related to a file system error. after that, i looked at the error message, and i saw the error message file as e:adobeacrobx.log (8193 files). while looking at the file and viewing the contents, i saw the following files! acrobat.full.log, adobe.jar.log, adobereaderinstall.log. and when the acrobat/acrobat reader is not properly installed or is missing then these error messages are filed in the c:windows
