i have a problem with my fault recorder, 7ke85 siemens. the digsi5 software show fault in port e, the front panel is active run (green), and error (red) led. i cant communicate this fault locator is not functional as long as the error led is glowing. what is the solution this problem has no solution-yes in cfc, the ladder is having a signal which is not masked remove that i can not inspect the relay, i can not communicate relay is in error mode means the software is having inconsistency between source & destination if you have a backup check cfc and send it to the relay. and if you are new to siemens relay, better do as i say, right away when i want to communicate with the relay for local or remote but in two situation does not allow any communication the relay thats because of an error in the relays file. this relay requires re-flashing of firmware siemens does not write the differences between digsi 5 compact and standard or standard and premium or premium and siprotec 5. any differences are written in the user manuals of the products. these differences are only visible when you execute the software. you can get the license key for digsi 5 standard and premium in the software. when you purchase the software, you will get a license key on a usb stick (which you can use to activate the software on your pc). for the license key for digsi 5 standard and premium edition you need to activate the software. you can do this via the software or via the web (standard/activate). the license key is now available in the software.

Throu hidedelivers a PC or a mobile device, DIGSI 5 also comes in different variants (Compact, Standard, and Premium) that provide different functionalities. Only one version of the DIGSI 5 Standard and Premium with a license key is needed. I am just curious on for what those 30000 was deposited. If it is as security deposit i believe it can only be refunded if you apply for permanant disconnection. if not company give interest on your security deposit. in all other case company should give those money back with interest from your application date. I suggest you write an application their to your Torrent Power zonal office with CC to Lal Darawaja for the same asking your money back. The thing is that in area there is only one player and that too a private player that do not think of consumer but for the profit only. On the other hand they make final settlement for the people who make electricity theft and on the other hand harrasse the genuine parties. Empower yourself to do more with the all-new DigiS 4.93 just sign in and go to "Manage" and open "Profile". From there you can view detailed information about the phone numbers stored on your device and manage the way to access them. Please contact us for any help.
